Military & Government solutions

VELCRO® Brand hook and loop fasteners are what we call “the hidden hero”, products that make lives much easier for soldiers and personnel by securing and fastening, in an intuitive and simple way, hundreds of applications.

We are proud to be a trusted and recognised partner for the Military Industry for more than 50 years. Our products are developed and manufactured to meet local specific requirements. We work together with partners in the industry to develop Military Specifications that include our product.

We focus on the best fastening technologies so you can focus on your mission. The correct selection of the appropriate hook and loop fastener for each different application is extremely important to ensure the quality of the final product and will have a direct cost saving. VELCRO® Brand fastening technology is in continuous development. We innovate constantly with products specifically developed for military applications. Our engineers are available for technical support and mutual development opportunities, in collaboration with leading government contractors and research facilities.
